

The outline of a foreign policy is happily the most satisfactory passage

When the Twenty-third was mustered out at Louisville Aunt Lucy was still there, and together with the veterans went up to Indianapolis, where a reception was given to the Indiana regiments July 1865, by Gov. Morton. There the regiment finally disbanded, and the men returned to their homes in the river cities. Many of the men being from Albany, Aunt Lucy naturally went to find them, as she hoped, many friends, and some years ago a good husband.

He is pushing the work and has got matters in good shape; with the opening of spring, yet further extensions in the work can be made, and the camp made a busy and profitable one.

THEY ARE CONFIDENT.

SALVATIONISTS THINK THEIR JANESVILLE BRANCH IS DOING GOOD WORK.

One of the organizers of the Salvation Army in this city passed through town yesterday on his way to Whitewater.

"From what I have heard and seen since I left Janesville," he said, "I think the local branch of the army is doing a work that the churches cannot accomplish. It takes hold of men and women whom the church cannot reach; those who seem to think that the church does not want them because of their poverty and, in a good many instances, their degradation. The Salvation Army has done a great deal of good and the workers are not likely to be deterred by ill-treatment or derision.

"The army workers get but little pay and oftentimes live on bread and water that they may accomplish good in the world. People who do not understand the objects of the army speak ill of it, but they will before long understand it and instead of condemning will commend its labors. Persons converted by the army are privileged to join any church, and thus the army is indirectly in sympathy with the churches, Catholic or Protestant. The fact that the work is growing leads me to believe that there is a field for it. The work in Janesville has not been as satisfactory in its influence in some ways as I should have desired, but there is much ground for hope. The army has much success in other cities in spite of greater drawbacks and more unfortunate circumstances than have been found here."

THE WORKERS OBJECT TO THE TRANSFERS RECENTLY MADE.

A special meeting of the school board is likely to be held to-morrow to rescind the action taken by the meeting last week. Miss Julia Welsh, who will be remembered, was promoted to the high school room to take the place soon to be left vacant by Miss Minnie Pulker; and other teachers were advanced to fill the vacancies thus left in the lower rooms.

It has appeared since then that in hardly a single case has the change been received with satisfaction. Most of the teachers claim that they can do better work in their present positions. It is probable therefore, that all will be returned to the old standing and a successor to Miss Pulker be elected outright.

JUDGMENT FOR $3,000.

THE FULLER-WARREN HARDWARE CO. VS. J. H. GRIFITHS.

Judgment has been entered in the circuit court for $3,000 against John Griffiths. The judgment is on a note given to the Fuller-Warren Company, of Chicago, and is the first case growing out of the failure, to be brought into court.

"Arrangements will be made as soon as possible," said E. F. Carpenter this afternoon, "to dispose of the stock and business. Several are negotiating and definite arrangements will probably be made soon."

ARE BEGINNING TO BEGIN.

THE WATER MAIN EXTENSION PROMISED IN SHORT ORDER.

"I have written Mr. Clarke about those water main extensions that the council ordered last summer," said Superintendent Croft this morning, but have not yet received an answer. When Mr. Clarke was here not long ago, thought I asked him about them, and he said material to begin work would be on the grounds as soon as the frost was out. He is judging, I guess, by the date when the frost was thawed out last year—sometime along in April. Last year we began work March 25th and had three feet of frost to cut through. The frost isn't all gone yet this year, but its thinning out a good deal and except in some of the more exposed streets work can begin pretty soon.

COST HIM FIFTY DOLLARS.

FRANK COLLINS PLEADS GUILTY TO SELLING LIQUOR IN MILTON.

Selling liquor in Milton is equivalent to selling liquor without a license. When Frank Collins appeared before Judge Patterson this morning, therefore, and pleaded guilty to supplying Milton people with the cup that intoxicates with very little delay walking around under the weight of a fifty dollar fine.

Complaint in the case was made by Colin Smith, of Milton and for the state by two appeared District Attorney Malone and W. E. Wheeler.

IN HYMEN'S BONDS.

COMSTOCK-KING.

The many friends of Mr. Charles Comstock will congratulate him on the fact that on Tuesday evening the words were spoken that joined with him in wedlock Miss Etta King. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. L. Farrelly at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Patterson in the fourth ward. Both young people have hosts of friends in this city, and hearty good wishes will be their portion.

HE FIXED IT.

Schoolmaster's wife.—If our sister comes to-morrow with her children, and remains with us a few days, we shall have to fry lots of pancakes, and we have neither eggs nor butter in the house.

Schoolmaster.—And we are short of money besides. But patience; I have an idea. At school: Children, to-morrow I will tell you the beautiful story of Columbus, who discovered America; so each of you will have to bring an egg with you to school. If you don't happen to have any eggs in the house, a little butter will do.—Pleasant Blatter.

"Enterprise of great path and moment" are so engrossing the minds of men, that they neglect their own affairs, and grow old with pain, forgetting that a little of Salvation Oil will cure all.

THE WEATHER.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 34 degrees above zero. Clear with east wind.

At one o'clock p. m. the clear was 58 degrees above zero. Clear with south wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 10 and 31 degrees below zero.

Have reading presents for his girl before Christmas. He bought an amber comb, a box of caramels and a bottle of Dr. E. C. Cough Syrup, and showed himself thereby a right sensible dude.

GRAND CHANCELLOR JEFFRIES.

JANESVILLE ATTORNEY HONORED BY KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

The Grand Lodge of the Knights of Pythias of Wisconsin, which has been in session at Milwaukee during the present week, completed its work last night and adjourned. A large amount of routine business was attended to. Janesville has been again honored by the selection of one of her citizens to be the Grand Chancellor of the order—Mr. Malcolm G. Jeffries having been unanimously chosen for that great dignity. He is the youngest Grand Chancellor the order has ever had in this state, but his ability and experience are of the higher class. Many of the best known men in the state have hitherto held the position to which Mr. Jeffries has been elevated, among them being Major Geo. B. Shaw, of Eau Claire; Hon. John A. Hinsey, of Milwaukee; Hon. J. M. Morrow, of Sparta; Major Geo. W. Pratt, of Oshkosh; Howard M. Kuteh, of Fond du Lac; and Ogden H. Fetzner, Esq., of this city.

The Gazette congratulates Mr. Jeffries and the order as well. "Mack" will be a credit to the Knights, to the city of his birth, and to the state.

The order as grown rapidly during the past ten years and is now one of the strongest in the world.

The other officers of the Grand Lodge are: Grand vice chancellor, F. B. Haskins, Fond du Lac.

Grand prelate, H. J. Weed, Oshkosh. Grand master of exchequer, F. Kraus, Milwaukee.

Grand keeper of records and seal, C. H. Hamilton, Milwaukee.

Grand master-at-arms, H. A. George, Superior.

Grand inner guard, E. F. Long, Black River Falls.

Grand outer guard, W. H. Dowley, Antigo.

Grand trustee, H. M. Stocking, Eau Claire.

Supreme representative for four years, J. A. Hinsey, Milwaukee.

Supreme representative for two years, Geo. W. Pratt, Oshkosh.

DON'T CALL THE REAL.

A HINT THAT PORK RAISERS WILL FIND VALUABLE.

To the Editor.

Not many years ago the farmers of Wisconsin were buying steamers to cook the feed for their hogs, and almost every farmer would tell you that it paid, and paid well. To-day I don't know of any farmer cooking feed for hogs. Now in speaking of cooking feed, I have referred only to the kind that the farmers feed their hogs, such as corn meal, shorts, etc. (for I am a believer of cooking certain kinds of feed) although farmers have abandoned the cooking process, very few of them call the reason why. I think that they got out of the cooking process for about the same reason that they got into it—that is others did it, and they would follow suit.

Below will be found a careful experiment for feeding hogs on cooked and raw meal. In 1842, August 25th, five hogs put up, weighing as follows:

Hog No. 1, 101 pounds, fed on scalded meal.

Hog No. 2, 81 pounds, fed on scalded meal.

Hog No. 3, 73 pounds, fed on scalded meal.

Hog No. 4, 104 pounds, fed on raw meal.

Hog No. 5, 49 pounds, fed on raw meal.

Those fed on scalded meal gained in 56 days on an average, 64 pounds each; those fed on raw meal, 69 pounds each. Then their feed changed. Those previously fed on scalded meal were now fed on raw meal, and scalded meal was given to those that had been kept on raw meal; and instead of feeding the three times a day as before—now only twice a day giving them the same amount of food.

The second test was for 40 days, Nov. 28th, they were again weighed with the following result:

Hog No. 1, weighed 206 pounds—gain 39 lbs.

Hog No. 2, weighed 182 pounds—gain 48 lbs.

Hog No. 3, weighed 212 pounds—gain 28 lbs.

Hog No. 4, weighed 207 pounds—gain 40 lbs.

In this case, the three pigs fed on raw meal gained in 40 days on an average, 46 2/3 pounds each, and those fed on scalded meal gained on an average 36 2/3 pounds each, the result being in both cases in favor of raw meal. This was no haphazard experiment, but a careful one. And although nearly half a century ago no material difference in result from the experiments of to-day. But the scientists of to-day allow the hogs their own time to eat, as hogs are not now fed for plowing purposes.

LA PRAIRIE.

THE SHORTEST LOVE STORY.

The Romance of the Rivals for a Canadian Village Belle.

There is going the rounds of the press just now the shortest love story ever published. It is scarcely a half column long, but it may be filled in between the lines to a volume of several hundred pages.

Janet Russell was the belle of the village, a Canadian village on the St. Lawrence, and was admired by all the young men who dwelt in those parts, but her "steady" was a handsome young fellow, John Miller, son of the village postmaster, who also kept a general store. John and Janet went together to a frolic one night, and on the road John asked the old question, which was answered in the affirmative. Things went nicely, but at last, Janet dancing twice in succession with a young fellow whom he had looked upon as a rival, John felt bad, and on the way home sharp words passed between them. The girl told him she wished it had been Charley Hall (the rival) who had asked her the question before mentioned, whereat John said he would give her a day to take that back, and if not—why, all was over between them. Janet relented when she had time to think about it, and the next morning wrote a note to John and dropped it in the letter box at old Mr. Miller's store. Time passed on. A year or so after that Charley Hall and Janet Russell were married, and John Miller was married to another girl. Some five years passed and old Mr. Miller died, leaving his property and store to his son, who at once set to work making improvements. And it so happened that at last Janet was broken up with. Mrs. Hall, accompanied by her eldest daughter, 4 years old, was in the store. A letter dropped to the floor; a workman picked it up with the remark, "Here's an old letter addressed to you, Mr. Miller," and passed it to John. At the moment he was talking to his old sweetheart.

He took the letter and turned it over and over in his hand. Janet's eyes fell on it as she blushed and opened the note and read it, then he handed it to Janet. She took her little one by the hand and hurriedly left. Was it for the better or worse?

PROPOSED SCHOOL FOR GIRLS.

Miss Goodwin is Highly Endorsed by Prominent Chicagoans.

An Institution Worthy the Cordial Support of Our People.

In accordance with the natural desire of our people to know something as to the capability of Miss Goodwin and the character of the school which she now has in Chicago, inquirers have been made by the committee in charge of the matter, and the Gazette takes pleasure in publishing letters from prominent gentlemen in Chicago. It seems to us that no further recommendation touching Miss Goodwin is necessary, and we hope the committee in canvassing for support for such a school as it is proposed to establish here will meet with a good reception.

Aside from the purely selfish interest which one may have in the education of children, there is a broader phase to the subject which our people should consider. The establishment of good schools have a tendency to draw to a town people who have children to educate, and thus add to its population. There is no reason why a school of the right character, and properly conducted should not grow to be a large institution. In fact the Gazette believes that if the parties who are working to start such a school here will when it is started continue their efforts toward its future growth, we will soon see very gratifying results.

WM. G. BAKER & CO., CHICAGO, March 13, 1889.

Arthur M. Valentine, Esq., Janesville.

DEAR SIR: Your favor of the 9th inst. received.

I have a very high opinion of Miss Goodwin and her school. I consider her an unusually competent educator, and have found her thorough and conscientious in dealing with pupils. I do not know of a better school for young ladies, and think you will make no mistake in sending your daughter there.

Yours truly,

WM. G. BAKER.

My knowledge of Miss Goodwin from sending my own daughter there until she finished the course.

THE METROPOLITAN NATIONAL BANK, 111 N. W. 1st St., Chicago, March 13, 1889.

Arthur M. Valentine, Esq., Janesville, Wis.

DEAR SIR: In receipt of your note of the 9th inst., of inquiry concerning Miss Goodwin's Girls' School. One of our daughters attended Miss Goodwin's school two years since and we found Miss Goodwin patient and faithful, well educated and cultivated and refined in manner. The school is not a large one, I think, and her pupils are from the best families in the city. We felt under many obligations to Miss Goodwin for her assiduous attentions best we could on our daughter and her interest in her out of school as well as in school. In judgment of that a girl under Miss Goodwin's care will be under excellent influences and receive good training.

Yours very truly,

NORMAN WILLIAMS.

INTELLIGENT EGRO.

An Example of Its Power that Astonished the Experimenters.

Echo was a mountain nymph in the old poetic days, but modern realism has changed her into an Irishman. At least the guests of the Georgia Colonel must have concluded so. The Savannah News reports Col. Ogechee as declaring that he had a very remarkable echo on his place, a few miles from that city; one, in fact, which would clearly repeat whole sentences.

The gentlemen to whom this assertion was made were interested but incredulous, and arranged to accompany Col. Ogechee home the next afternoon and find the wonderful echo. The Colonel found, on getting home, that in the heat of the discussion he had claimed more than the facts justified. Determined not to be beaten he called his Irish laborer.

"Pat," said he, "some gentlemen are coming home with me to-morrow afternoon to hear the echo. Now I want you to go across the river before time for me to arrive, so you can answer back whatever we may call out."

"You name fur me to play likker, sorr?" asked Pat, grinning.

"That's it, exactly," said the Colonel. "Now do you thoroughly understand that you are to answer back exactly what we say?"

"Oh, yes, sorr; ye can depend on me entirely."

Next afternoon the Colonel took his friends to the river bank and all were ready for the experiment.

Making a speaking trumpet of his hands the Colonel roared, "Are you there?"

Back came the echo with startling distinctness.

"Yes, sorr; O've been here since four av the clock."

FEMININE FANCIES.

A new craze for evening wear is said to be very durable. It has the narrowest of stripes of plain silk running through it, and when draped, this stripe produces some very pretty effects.

The little girl looks very dumpy this winter. She is a mass of gathers and smocks and puffs and shawls and garters, with a bonnet which doubles the size of her head, and waddles along by the side of her mother, dressed more like a little Christmas duck.

Some of the new redingotes with band of house wear have full sleeves with a mean of embroidery at the throat and wrist, but very best models of street garments are made with the most elaborate very wide facing of some short-plaited fur set on a sleeve which is close at the top and very slightly bell-shaped at the wrist.
